

ABSTRACT

2 A fiber optic connector used for data communication and telecommunication
3 applications is disclosed. A latch pull is used to decouple the fiber optic connector from a
4 receptacle. The latch pull provides easier removal of the fiber optic connector than prior
5 art connector removal mechanisms, thereby enabling high-density fiber optic
6 installations.

7

8